MANDELA VILLAGE

Hammanskraal

Mandela Village in Hammanskraal, around 40 kilometres from Pretoria, symbolises the evolution of post-apartheid urban development. Integrated into the Hammanskraal Local Area Committee in 1995, it encompasses schools, community halls, sports facilities, and a craft market. A statue of Nelson Mandela was unveiled in 1999 and stands as a beacon of hope and a tribute to his legacy. Despite challenges such as inadequate water supply, unemployment, and crime, the community benefits from spacious living conditions and a harmonious environment. The local sports field and other amenities named after Mandela aim to attract tourism, leveraging its proximity to the N1 highway and Dinokeng Game Reserve. The village embodies Mandela's legacy, reflecting the community's pride and identity while emphasising the importance of preserving this legacy for future generations.

FACT

"If it weren't for Mandela and his reputation, we wouldn't have a place to stay. Because of Mandela, we fought for this location and secured formal permission from the government, all through his name."
