

A proof is when evidence shows an idea is true, without room for debate or discussion it is unconditionally true. Often using fundamental ideas to support the proof